Reagan Sees Need for Change in 1968

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan, back home after a brief trip to three states, says he detects a growing mood among the people, regardless of party lines, that a change is needed.

He said that civil disorder and lawlessness rank "above Vietnam as an issue," and that conditions are "terribly disrupted" by the breakdown of law and order.

FUND RAISING

His trip was the first of a series Reagan plans to take this fall to the East, Midwest and South to help raise funds for GOP candidates.

Although he plans to spend the last two weeks of this month speaking in several states, Reagan emphasized that he is not seeking the Republican presidential nomination.

Asked if he thought his speaking engagements enhanced his potential as a presidential nominee, Reagan replied, "That's the object of the trip," but said that the reception he received were good. He added that his appearances boosted funds for the GOP in South Carolina and Wisconsin.

PRIMARIES

Reagan's name is expected to be on the GOP presidential primary ballot in Wisconsin, Colorado and Nebraska. In order to remove his name from the ballot in those states, he would have to sign an affidavit stating he is not a candidate. He said the object of his trip is to help build "important momentum" among Republicans so they do not fall back in apathy.

VIETNAM

While Reagan said lawlessness is a major concern to Americans, the governor emphasized that "certainly they are a distressed country of our neighbors" and that the U.S. must "find its way into the black market or administrative pockets" for aid. Vietnam is a "test case" which entails serving on such groups as the Academic Senate.

In this capacity, the Budget Committee functions as an advisory committee to the chancellor, though the chancellor's decision is final. Wilson has offered a special meeting with the Senate Education Policy Committee which entails serving on such groups as the Academic Senate.

Moreover, final decisions are granted to the Budget Committee on such matters as admissions, courses and curricula.

By JEAN FISHER

According to Dr. Clayton Wilson, chairman of the Academic Senate and professor of music, student participation in the Academic Senate is simply a matter of taking with the secretarial staff in the Senate office or with Wilson himself.

Wilson stressed the point that there is "no formality" in this student participation. He feels the student definitely has the role of "keeping the Senate members informed on what problems seem more important to the students than to the Senate members."

Student participants would not be voting members of the 459-member Senate. They would fall in the same category with those faculty members who have taught at the University for less than two years; vocational and technical.

Votes by student participants are subject to the technoid that they must be full-time faculty members; professors, associate professors, associate professors. Those classified as lecturers are not voting members.

In connection with the power of expression, Wilson cited as an example the change in exam scheduling that originally had to go about through student action on the Senate Education Policy Committee.

Students may serve on any of the Senate committees except the Budget Committee, which is confidential. Wilson explained that Wilson does more than advise the chancellor on budgetary matters and should, in reality, be referred to as the "academic personnel committee."

While the Budget Committee does comment on department allocations it also considers professional advancement of staff. The criteria is based on the ground of teaching, research and "whether the person is well known." The academic personnel committee is made yearly by the Academic Senate.

The Office of Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh has announced that intensive public hearings will begin this month on the lassation of tuition and financial support for the University of California and the California State Colleges. The hearings will be conducted by the ten-man Joint Committee on Higher Education, headed by Speaker Unruh.

The first hearing will be held in Los Angeles on October 13 and the San Francisco hearing (Nov. 13), and will feature student representatives (Continued on p. 4, col. 3)

WORLD WIRE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A serious deterioration in quality at the California State Colleges is claimed by the Los Angeles Times.

The newspaper said its own survey showed some classes had been dropped and others were overcrowded because of insufficient faculty. Many students had to postpone their scheduled graduations because they could not sign up for needed classes, the Times said.

Deans and department chairmen confirmed the faculty shortage, saying they had hired temporary and part-time professors who do not hold doctorate degrees.

The Times said administrators blame Gov. Reagan for the shortage of teachers. They say many prospective professors were lost during the three-month hiring freeze after Reagan favored cuts in the state college's budget.

SANTA BARBARA (AP) -- The California branch of the American Association of University Women has asked the state board of Regents to postpone a decision about universi ties fees until after the results of a legislative study are known.

The Joint Committee on Higher Education has been instructed by the legislature to study public financing of education, including tuition charges.

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Richard M. Nixon is rated now by political pros as the man to beat in the crucial Republican presidential primaries in New Hampshire, Wisconsin and Nebraska, as Associated Press survey shows.

They note, however, that Michigan Gov. George Romney is starting to build up a campaign organization in some primary states. The situation could change dramatically, they added, before the voting next spring.

Although he has said repeatedly he is not a candidate, Reagan has indicated he will allow his name to appear on the ballots in Oregon, Wisconsin and Nebraska. His supporters plan a write-in campaign in New Hampshire, where he has been said he will take necessary steps to keep it off the ballot.

SAIGON (AP) -- The provisional National Assembly found Monday that there were widespread irregularities in the presidential election, but not enough to affect the result. By a vote of 58-43 it accepted Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu's victory, clearing the way for his inauguration next month as president in a civilian-based government.

But the assembly action seemed another clear political victory for Thieu and his running mate, Nguyen Van Thieu, an air force marshall. In the present military regime, Ky is premier and Thieu is chief of state. In their new posts as president and vice president they will give up their military commissions.

Meet Dennis Barr
He read all these texts
the first 15 days of the semester, with excellent comprehension
...and he still had time for a night out with the boys.

COMPREHENDING—NOT SKIMMING
Anyone could skim through all those books, but Dennis reads every word. By using the Reading Dynamics technique, he reads over 3000 words a minute. At the beginning of last semester, Dennis decided to read all of his class texts to improve his grades and to have more leisure time during the semester. No, it wasn’t a “cram” marathon. Dennis still had time for his personal reading and social life. Even in his law texts, Dennis rarely falls below 1500 words a minute. His comprehension is excellent. The statistics and details are not overlooked. Dennis Barr learned this amazing reading method at the Reading Dynamics Institute.

YOUR SUCCESS IS GUARANTEED
Most of us read at an average rate of only 300 words a minute, with only average comprehension. Average just isn’t good enough to keep up with today’s college demands! Reading Dynamics absolutely guarantees to teach you how to read and study at least three times faster, with excellent comprehension and recall, or refund your entire tuition!

CLASSES HERE—BY THE CAMPUS
A new Reading Dynamics Institute has been opened in Isla Vista next to the U.C.S.B. campus. Classes are starting this month, with a variety of class times available to you: afternoons after school, evenings, and Saturday morning. Because you will begin reading faster immediately, you will have no trouble fitting the Reading Dynamics course into your present study schedule.

HOW TO GET ALL THE ANSWERS ABOUT THE COURSE
A series of free demonstrations will be held next week at the YWCA Building—across the street from the UCLA campus. Find a time convenient for you from the schedule below. At the demonstration, you will get all the details—the answers to your questions—and you will see how students have applied this technique to improve grades, enhance their educations, and gain the time to really enjoy campus life!

AWS - Association for Women's Security

Assuming coeds are 18, and therefore deemed ready for such institutions as marriage, smoking, and parking without fear of police lights, it seems slightly absurd for the Association of Women Students to again establish their lockout policy in the enlightened year of 1967.

The rules are as hypocritical as a Mississippi integration law, for we all know it’s just as good at midnight at 3 A.M. The only rationalization for the regulations used to be that signing out made it possible to find a girl in case of an emergency. Right. Now, however, the signout is optional, yet the clamping hours remain, and where the justification for that is sideswiping our imagination.

Male students do quite well without signing affidavits everyday they drive to Sambo’s for an evening snack, and no parent to our knowledge has ever kept a son away from UCSB because he would be running uncontrolled. Aren’t the coeds as trustworthy as their siblings?

By PAUL BELLIN
A.S. Executive Vice President

The recent arrest of Mr. Jim Babb a faun has blown up in Isla Vista concerning an individual’s right to exhibit the films he chooses.

Certainly there was never a cry of public outrage at the showing of “Change of Heart.” There was an excited enforcement officer apprehending the young man. When the film was shown in Isla Vista from pornographic material which could damage them for life genetically, physically, intellectually, thus leaving them to a life of total depravity and perversion, so much for the District Attorney.

This seems a violation of the basic tenet of free expression but only in the content of its exhibition. Had the film been shown in the midst of a conservative pit as a conservatively presented instead of Isla Vista, most likely, the outrage would have materialized. The redeeming social value of “Change of Heart” will be left to the courts.

There exists on campus in the melange of red tape bureaucracy, Organizations Coordinating Board, which registers all on-campus groups and schedules all of their events, including the showing of films. Their policy stated that any group could show any film they wished at any time during the week.

This worked out well for those on campus as we had excellent movies at a very reasonable rate. Obviously, I speak of the past. Mr. Babb and other local theater owners realized that in the many times we showed better films than they did.

The board of the University had made an agreement with Mr. Babb regarding which films could be shown on campus. Other groups could show a film on campus on Friday or Saturday nights, but there will be an exchange of film titles intended to be shown by UCSB and the local theater owners. For the distribution of foreign movies could delete any film on our list that they intended to show in the near future.

We have complied with our side of the compromise but Mr. Babb has failed to fulfill his part. He has not sent us his list and yet has constantly promoted any quality film we wish to show with the explanation that he hasn’t yet set a date to plans to show the film soon.

The result is that we usually show nothing more recent than 1960, and one of no better quality than a Roulette Reel flick, thus causing our groups to lose money. Even television has better films that us.

There will be a renegotiation of the agreement in the near future and it will be a difficult session. But imagine the surprise of the University officials who attempt to formulate a policy beneficial to UCSB when they find that our position of the beloved Mr. Babb is maintained by a large number of our own students. Have you created a hero out of a Villain?

Krend Story Unobjective

To the Editor:

In a very real sense, the first issue of Kaleidoscope established its goal as a creative sectional.

Unfortunately, Jeff Krend’s article on President-elect Hitch might have been better presented in a factual vein. A touch of personal objectivity, too, would have been becoming.

From the second paragraph, where special attention is drawn to Dr. Hitch’s “secret, closed-door” meeting with the governor, the half page discourse was calculated to underline his student body.

On this matter, it obviously had not occurred to Mr. Krend that, before accepting the presidency, Dr. Hitch would only be wise to establish his own terms in regard to Regental support and political interference.

I see nothing sinister about his meeting with the main source of his political support and, therefore, I see it as a provident practicality.

In questioning Hitch’s qualifications, Krend ignored the president-elect’s scholarly distinctions.

It is these that mark him as an academician uniquely qualified to lead the University.

The 400 words on Hitch’s appointment to cost effectiveness in the Band Corporation and the Defense showed much research but little thought.

In essence, they suggested that the new president would apply this management tactic to academia, and if so, the editors could delete any film on our list that they intended to show in the near future.

We have complied with our side of the compromise but Mr. Babb has failed to fulfill his part. He has not sent us his list and yet has constantly promoted any quality film we wish to show with the explanation that he hasn’t yet set a date to plans to show the film soon.

The result is that we usually show nothing more recent than 1960, and one of no better quality than a Roulette Reel flick, thus causing our groups to lose money. Even television has better films that us.

Girls mature enough to live away from home would seem to be quite capable of making a decision when a date should end. Who is AWS to determine when Denise in the dorms should be locked indoors, lest she turn into a pumpkin before her beau’s very eyes? Who is AWS to determine anything?

Is the organization “an integral part of the community,” as it so glibly claims in its own handbook? Or is it a self-perpetuating association with a thumb on the campus coed it doesn’t wish to raise?

AWS was founded on the theory that women in this university have the necessary maturity and good judgement to establish rules governing their behavior,” the handbook declares. We would like to see each woman allowed to use her own moral and good judgement to establish behavior rules individually.

Let AWS stick to buying name tags for the Honey Bears, and leave dating to the people involved.

PRIVATE SCREENING

Seen or Ob-Seen?

With all the hullabaloo over Magic Lantern’s much celebrated "skin flick," Change of Heart," it seemed only logical that the D.A. should invite the gentleman of the press for a "private" showing. No attempted influencing of the press or anything so gauche as that, you understand, as Bill Steele put it, "We feel the film speaks for itself.

Eleven frustrated sighs as the much anticipated prefilm advertising failed to materialize - the D.A. was playing this one very cautiously; all soft sell.

The name couldn’t be said of the flick. It is very hard sell all the way, much like a used car salesman with his pitch running on and on. The continual exhibition of genitalia rolls wave after wave of shock, despair, and finally numbness against the viewer’s senses - this is not at all like mother taught us, it is?

Nevertheless, the power the movie does contain, despite atrocious scripting and an irregular plot, depends upon its display of physical taboos, the curious desire to tear through body and mind, and eventually, physical necrophilia is not a comfortable sight - but neither is a corpse in a rice paddy. Both have social significance.

Far more interesting than the shadows on the screen was the reaction of the other viewers. The pre-film festivities, which included coffee, sly jokes about the D.A.’s interest in the film and several ´secrets until the little woman hears about this... AWS, come on and see the dirty type documents were quickly replaced with rapt attention once the flick proceeded.

The film ended with a shock, as it had begun, and the room exploded with nervous small talk and a few attempts at recalling the old days. (Hey, what fraternity did you say you belonged to?)

Followed by weak laughter, Talks smoothly turned to city politics and the latest police escapade. One member of the group turned to Steele as he left and said, “I’m happy to agree with you,” started to elaborate, thought better of it, and beat a quick retreat down the hall, Life returns to normal.

Driving homeward past Doe Fuebllos, my attention was diverted by a lone individual apparently risking the wrath of Investigator Steele and Co. without a flinch. The fellow was standing at the curb, cheerily waving a seldom observed part of his anatomy at passing cars. Ah, I noted, obviously he is being graphic - I wonder if he has redeeming social significance?

THE ONLY WAY TO CATCH THE ROAD RUNNER IS AT YOUR PLYMOUTH DEALERS!
Independents, Frats Duel For IM All-Sports Trophy

By MARC LEVITAN
Sports Writer

The hectic intramural program for 1966-67 has ended, but don't tell this to any of last year's top contenders, it seems as if one has barely had time to recuperate from last-year's race to the wire; yet all of the contenders are already reconquering their forces to compete for the coveted All Sports Trophy for the upcoming year.

The Cool Clutch Clan, an independent representative, was the victor in last year's fierce, tightly contested battle of strategy and athletic prowess. The OCC needed all-school championship in water polo and track to win the trophy going away. Although they did not win a championship in a major sport, the Clan picked up valuable points in all of the minor sports, aside from winning all school championships in cross-country and swimming. These points provided the necessary margin for victory over the other independent contender.

The Delta's, surprisingly strong in all of the major sports, finished second to the OCC, with championship contention teams in football, basketball, volleyball, and softball, certainly the Delta's must be carefully considered for this year's crown.

The SAE's, defending intramural champions for the previous five years, finished third behind two teams. However, the grapevine has it that they have brought up several individuals from the minor leagues to help bolster their concerted attack for this trophy.

As for the defending champion, Cool Clutch Clan, a major shakeup in the organization could have serious repercussions in the effectiveness of the team. Several key players were lost due to graduation, while still others pledged fraternities and will now compete for their respective houses. Furthermore, the placement of independent teams in contention for the All Sports Trophy within the fraternity leagues will make the competition just that much more difficult.

Hopefully, many of the problems which existed last year in the intramural program will be eliminated. Referees will be required to attend a clinic, while the scoring system will be reassessed in accordance with the relative weight of each sport.

Intramurals Planned

UCSB's grand carnival of intramural athletics gets under way this weekend, October 11, and, my friends—it's time for everybody to get into the act!

Intramural director Sandy Gruss, starting his third year at the helm, said today, "We are expecting the biggest turnout in history and our program should be as exciting as ever," Gruss indicated that 70 teams are expected to participate in the program with over 2,500 students engaged in either football, 2-man baseball, wrestling, badminton singles, badminton doubles, cross-country and 2-man volleyball.

INTRAMURAL OFFICIALS URGENTLY NEEDED

Gruss issued an urgent request for intramural officials, who this year will work at the intramural fee of $2.07 per hour. Gruss has asked interested students to sign-up in the intramural office in Robertson Gym, Room 1020. An officials clinic is set for Saturday, Oct. 7, at 11 a.m. behind Robertson Gym. Interested signees must attend this clinic.

INTRAMURAL TEAM MANAGERS MUST MEET

Another meeting, this one for team managers, is being held Monday, October 9, at 4 p.m. in SH 1131. All organizations must attend the meeting at which time football schedules will be distributed and rules will be explained.

SIG EPS LOOM FOOTBALLERS TO BEAT

On the gridiron front, the mighty Sig Eps—headquartered by Craig Rubenstein, Joe Green and Pete Hall—loom the team to beat, as they gun for a third consecutive championship. The Rube-Green Hall trip comprises a formidable nucleus which could well develop into another title contender.

Another key to attach the Sig Eps power block will be perennial runner-up Lambda Chi Alpha, which for the past two years has taken second in the running for the coveted fraternity cup.

Both years the Lomb Chops have tied the Sig Eps for a share of the regular season title, but have taken it on the chin in the playoff games. The Lammies are expected (according to the Street and Smith Annual) to return to the battlefield this year very strong, with only linbacker Walla Mallow lost. Veteran Lambda Chi Alpha stalwart Hal Greene has returned this quarter, according to rumor, in order to help his team grab the title.

Dark-horse contenders include the SAE's and the Sig-Pi's, who are expected to apply pressure for the top spot.

GALA PAGAENTRY, EXCITEMENT FOR EVERYONE

Robertson Gym's sprawling playfields will be the site of many top gridiron clashes, with football activity also scheduled for the new field located directly across the street from the House of Lords.

Intramurals lure top crowds, blazing bands, pretty gals and even members of the working press. Remembered best is last year's historic titanic which pitted the Lambda Chi Alpha's against the SAE's. The game was rated a toss-up, but the Lammies came alive and clubbed the Pardall Pirates, 46-12, before an estimated crowd of 2,000.

Another stellar performance, the Sig Pi's—led by the sparkling play of clever Dave Shuff—led the SAE's to a victory in a championship which eventually resulted in a fraternity league playoff (Sig Eps v.s. Lambda Chi).
Viet Cong Not Communists

Stamos learned from a former Viet Cong officer that the leadership of the National Liberation Front is communist and Han-d oriented, but the majority of the VC, guerrillas are not communist, but nationalist. According to Stamos, “They are told that the United States is there for imperialistic reasons, intending to take-over where the French left off and annex South Vietnam as a colony. The presence of foreign soldiers seems to bear this out.”

He added that the bulk of the “communist” fighters are fighting for reasons vastly different from the leadership, but the leaders do not mind as long as they keep fighting. The Vietnamese students knew enough English to ride herd on interpreters. Only on one occasion was an interpreter replaced, for his affiliation with the secret police.

The members of the tour spent far more time in meetings than out on the country-side. Stamos described the schedule as “mentally exhausting. It was hardly a pleasure trip.” But he was able to see a Montagnard hamlet on the way to Dalat, where he was given a sheath of wooden arrows that the villagers used for fishing.

Of the 59,000 college students in Vietnam 27,000 attend the University of Saigon. The Student Body President had to leave the tour early to attend a Regent’s meeting on tuition.

Commenting on his trip’s relevance to UCSB and student affairs, President Stamos concluded, “I am eager to relate my many experiences and show the students the things I hope to speak to interested living groups and service organizations, I gained many valuable contacts with student leaders in foreign countries with whom I will exchange ideas.

”It urge people to become politically aware by actively researching a point of view and taking the appropriate stands, Vietnam is a very complicated issue to say the least, and people should realize that there are many factors important but unknown, I will continue to modify my view through more experience and knowledge, I will not speak for Leg Council as a whole though if they can agree to formulate an official policy on Vietnam, I see no reason why not.”

When commenting on the increase, Registrar William T. Puckett said, "We haven't had time to study the enrollment pattern to see how to account for this big increase, but it may be that the changes in the draft law are partially responsible." The upper enrollment limit at UCLA is 27,500, but this figure is an average of the three quarters, Puckett said that the fall quarter enrollment is usually higher than winter and spring quarters.
Registration at UC Berkeley also reached the highest point in its history—28,169. The highest previous enrollment was 27,411 in 1964. Last year the total was 26,963.
While late registration will continue until Oct. 13, a spokesman for the University said that he does not expect the final figure to be much higher. In addition to speculations on the possible correlation between the increase in student registration at the university and the recent change in draft laws to provide for student deferments, another UC spokesman said that, while there are as yet no official figures, a number of newly enrolled students will be veterans of the Vietnam war.

UCLA's largest student body in its history began classes yesterday. Enrollment was 1,699 more than the full quarter of 1966, and nearly 1,000 above the predicted undergraduate enrrollment for this fall.

Another important committee for student participation in the Education Policy Committee. This group deals chiefly with grading practices, "reviews the situation of pass-fail and the possibility of including a plus or minus with letter grades.

Wilson stated that student interest in the various activities of the Academic Senate stems from their interest in the "dismision of faculty due to the publish or perish pressure.

In the future, Wilson would like to see the quarter load changed from a unit-based to a course-based system. That is, a full load would be three courses as opposed to 15 units for a more concentrated study.

Whether or not these changes would take pass-fail "would be the student's option," The practice of course-oriented quarters is already underway at the UCLA and UCSD campuses.

Wilson, aside from serving as Academic Senate Chairman at UCSB, is a member of the Academic Council made up of the nine Academic Senate chairmen from the nine Cal campuses. This Council advises the University presidents and the Regents.

The Council composed a paper last October against tuition and the increase in fees.
When asked if the paper would have any effect on the Regents' decisions, Wilson replied, "My guess is probably not."

tees.

The Joint Committee on Higher Education has been directed by the Legislature to determine whether an increase in student fees is desirable and feasible way to raise additional revenue for support of higher education.

The committee will also attempt to determine what effect a large increase in student charges will have on enrollment and distribution, the afficienct operation of the public institutions of higher education and the influence of the publish or perish pressure among the low-income segments of the population.
